1 Introduction

This guide explains how we look after our with-profits fund. You'll find important information about how our life insurance, savings, investment and pension plans work – and how we manage them. At the end of this guide there is a helpful glossary of some of the financial and insurance terms we've used.

If you took out a Flexible Whole Life Assurance Policy or Appropriate Personal Pension Policy with us you're invested in this fund and this guide applies to you.

To put this guide into context, it might help to read it with your:

- Key Features
- Policy Conditions
- Personal Illustration showing what you might get back in the future.

Please keep this guide safe along with your other plan documents.

2 What's our with-profits fund?

This is an investment fund where we combine your money with other investors' money, and manage it on your behalf. Different with-profits plans invest in different mixes of assets within Liverpool Victoria Friendly Society Limited (LVFS). Your plan is invested in the mix of assets that we call our 'main with-profits fund' (which is referred to in this guide as 'our with-profits fund' or 'the fund'). There are also other types of policies in LVFS, together with the inherited estate.

We set the overall investment strategy of our with-profits fund, taking into account the current and projected financial strength of the fund and the expected returns available from different types of investment.

The asset management of our with-profits fund is currently undertaken on our behalf by Columbia Threadneedle Investments. They are responsible for the day-to-day management of the assets in our with-profits fund, operating in accordance with our investment strategy.

The investment performance of our with-profits fund and the outlook for different types of asset are regularly monitored. We also review our investment strategy in detail at least every three years, with less detailed reviews typically being performed annually.

Typical investments made by our with-profits fund include:

- the shares (also known as equities) of UK and overseas companies
- fixed-interest securities such as government bonds and corporate bonds
- property
- cash.

The proportions held in each type of asset can vary over time, for example the proportion held in shares can be reduced as a result of market conditions.

You can see the current and target mix of investments in our with-profits fund on our website at LV.com/asset-allocation. Here you can also see investment reports showing the performance of the fund. Alternatively you can also get this information by contacting our Head Office at: LV=, County Gates, Bournemouth BH1 2NF.

3 What's the aim of our with-profits fund?

First and foremost, we want to give you a fair return on your investment, allowing for any guaranteed benefits. We have different groups of with-profits policyholders – with different plans started at different times, and with different terms. We always try to treat our policyholders fairly when there are any conflicting interests between them.

4 What's an accumulating with-profits policy?

An accumulating with-profits policy simply means that your investment fund:

- goes up as premiums or contributions are paid into your policy
- goes down as we apply any charges to your policy.

We aim to increase your policy's value over time by adding regular bonuses. For Appropriate Personal Pension Policies, we may also add a final bonus at the end.

For Flexible Whole Life Assurance Policies it's important to understand that if you stop paying into your policy before age 75 your life cover is likely to reduce, and could cease. If you decide to cash it in, your life cover will cease.

5 How do we cushion you from the ups and downs of the stock market?

As explained earlier, the fund invests in a number of different types of assets, including in the shares of UK and overseas companies, commercial property and fixed-interest investments. Shares are often called equities and are bought and sold on stock markets throughout the world.

We believe it's important for us to invest in shares, as over the long term they tend to give a higher return than other safer investments, like government bonds and cash. We want to give you the potential for better returns in the long run, so we invest in the shares of UK and overseas companies and commercial property.

The downside to shares is that they can be more volatile than other investments. Their values can rise and drop sharply, sometimes quickly and in line with world events. We aim to smooth out the effects of some of the rises and drops in two ways.

- We invest in many different types of investment and limit the amount in any one type.
- Instead of just awarding large bonuses in good years and none at all in bad years, we hold back some of the profit in good years to award to our with-profits policies when times are tough. This is what we mean by a 'smoothed' return.

As an example, if your policy ends on a day when the market fell drastically, the smoothing would help protect you from the sudden drop in value. If the opposite happens and the market rises sharply, the smoothing effect would mean that you wouldn't get the full amount of the rise. So investors in a fund that doesn't smooth returns might see their investments rise and fall more quickly than that of a fund with smoothed returns.

For accumulating with-profits policies we smooth investment returns over a two year period. Because we smooth investment returns, the amount we pay you at the end of your policy will generally be higher or lower than the underlying value of the investments.

6 How do we decide the return on your policy?

We want to make sure that every investor receives a fair return. To increase the value of your policy, we add regular bonuses from time to time and, for Appropriate Personal Pension Policies, possibly a final bonus when you cash your policy in. You can find out more about these bonuses in the next section.

To calculate your overall return we'll take into account:

- the payments you've made
- our expenses
- tax and
- the investment returns from the fund.

For Flexible Whole Life Assurance Policies we'll also take off the cost of any guaranteed benefits provided by the policy.

As we've said in section 5 we try to smooth out the ups and downs of the stock market, and this also affects your return. We may also add discretionary amounts not generated by the policy itself, such as profits arising from business risks. From 2011 these are distributed as mutual bonus (see section 12).

For Appropriate Personal Pension Policies that reach the end of their term, we aim to pay out between 80% and 120% of the underlying value of the investments. Our long term aim is to pay out on average 100% of the underlying value of the investments.

7 What bonuses do we pay?

We might add regular bonuses to your policy at any time during its life, and for Appropriate Personal Pension Policies, a final bonus at the end.

We aim to add a regular bonus to your policy every month. When setting regular bonus rates, we take into account expected future investment returns, the relationship between the value of the contributions made into your policy less charges accumulated with regular bonuses to date and value of the investments underlying them, the current and projected financial strength of LVFS and past policyholder communications. We review the size of the regular bonuses we add at least once a year.

For Appropriate Personal Pension Policies we limit the levels of regular bonus. This allows us to be more flexible with how we invest your policy. For example we can invest more in areas that offer the best potential returns such as shares. If the regular bonuses you've had during your policy are less than a fair return, we'll add a final bonus to increase your payout.

For Flexible Whole Life Assurance Policies, we set the level of regular bonus with the aim of paying you a fair return.

We review the size of the bonuses we add at least once a year. We may pay different bonuses for different groups of policies to reflect the nature of the policy.

Once we've added a regular bonus we won't normally take it away. The only reason we would take it away is if we apply a market value reduction, which we explain in the next section.

What is a market value reduction?

This only applies to Flexible Whole Life Assurance Policies. In the same way that we add regular bonuses if our investments are doing well, if they're not doing so well we might need to apply what's called a market value reduction (or MVR). This means that we'll reduce the amount we pay you.

We'll only apply an MVR if your payout is so much higher than the underlying value of the investments within the fund as to be unfair to other policyholders in the fund.

We guarantee not to reduce the value on death. You can check your policy documents to find out more about this.

8 How do we decide how much you get if you leave your policy early?

If your policy has a fixed term and you leave your policy early, this is called 'surrendering' your policy. You can find out if this applies to your policy by reading the Key Features. We'll work out how much to pay you, being fair to both you and the policyholders staying in the fund. For Flexible Whole Life Assurance Policies this means that we may apply a market value reduction, as explained in section 7.

If you surrender your policy or transfer it to another company, we aim to pay out between 80% and 120% of the underlying value of the investments.

9 What expenses are charged to our with-profits fund?

As with any investment, there are certain costs involved in setting up and looking after a with-profits policy – including commission payments (where relevant), administration costs and other expenses. The charges deducted from your policy are taken to cover these expenses. You can find out more about them in your Key Features document and Policy Conditions.

For Appropriate Personal Pension Policies, from 1 May 2017 this includes a fund-based charge equal to the investment management fee (including any performance fee) paid to the asset manager.

10 How do we decide what business risks to take?

In offering a with-profits fund, we face potential risks such as whether we have the right product design, the right selling and marketing practices, and fluctuating interest rates and investment returns.

We'll sometimes take other business risks and consider business opportunities that can provide a source of profit. For example, LVFS has a strategic holding in a general insurance company, which forms part of the inherited estate.

We're always careful about our investments, and our Board of Directors has to approve and monitor anything that poses a significant business risk. They'll only approve these if the expected benefits are at least as good as we could get from other opportunities.

Given its importance our Board of Directors review, typically annually, the benefits and risks to our policyholders of our investment in our general insurance business and any other material strategic investments.

LVFS is providing a capital support facility to the RNPFN Fund (a ring-fenced fund within LVFS for policies transferred from Royal National Pension Fund for Nurses). This means that if the assets of the RNPFN Fund were insufficient to meet its liabilities and regulatory capital requirements, LVFS would add assets from its own funds into the RNPFN Fund up to a defined level. If this were to happen, it would reduce LVFS's inherited estate.

11 What's 'the inherited estate' and how do we use it?

The inherited estate is the amount of money we've built up from profits from the fund that are in excess of the fund's liabilities. This money has been building up since we began in 1843, from generations of policies where we've made more profit than we anticipated. For example, if a protection policyholder lived longer than we'd expected and priced the policy for, we'd make more profit. The money is used to support the fund and its day-to-day operations.

We don't currently try to increase the size of the inherited estate on purpose. However, we aren't obliged to distribute the inherited estate to the current generation of members. We use the estate to benefit our policyholders in a number of ways, including:

- to help us give you smoothed returns
- to give us more freedom to invest in ways we believe will offer better returns
- to help fund new business opportunities or risks which we believe will be profitable.

Keeping a reasonable level of inherited estate gives us the financial strength we need to invest more in shares, and so to give our with-profits policyholders the potential for better returns in the long run. However, if the inherited estate became relatively small then we might change the way we invest the fund and smooth the returns, and we might reduce the volume of new business.

12 What's mutual bonus?

The mutual bonus scheme is designed to reward eligible members for their ownership of LVFS.

The Board of Directors will consider the financial performance of our trading businesses and profits and losses on smoothing from LVFS with-profits policies each year along with LVFS's current and projected financial strength to determine whether, at what level, and in what form, we should declare any mutual bonus, and which members are eligible to receive it. They will also take into account the contribution made to LVFS by each group of products within it (for example the risks taken in supporting the establishment and growth of LVFS's trading businesses in life and general insurance).

Currently, any such mutual bonus allocated to Appropriate Personal Pension Policies is paid by increasing final bonus and any such mutual bonus allocated to Flexible Whole Life Assurance Policies is paid by adjusting the regular bonus added. You will therefore receive it when your policy ends.

Unpaid mutual bonus allocations do not form part of the guaranteed policy benefits, so might be taken away in the future. However, we would do so only in exceptional circumstances, for example if it were required to protect our financial solvency. Past allocations may subsequently be reinstated if the Board of Directors consider it appropriate. Further information about the mutual bonus scheme can be found on our website at LV.com/members/mutual_bonus.

13 Could we ever close LVFS to new business?

Yes we could but we'll let people invest in LVFS as long as we feel it's in the interests of both our existing and new with-profits policyholders.

14 What would happen if we stopped accepting new business?

If we did ever stop accepting new business and closed LVFS, we'd share out the inherited estate over the lifetime of the remaining with-profits policies held in LVFS. Our main concern would be to make sure this was fair to all remaining policyholders – to do this, we might change the way we invest the fund and smooth the returns.

Commercial Property	An investment in assets such as offices, and retail and industrial premises, which generate income and whose value can go up or down.
Financial Solvency	The ability of an insurer to set aside capital to meet its future liabilities as they fall due.

Smoothed Return	We aim to pay customers a smoothed return in order to cushion the effects of volatile movements in the investments in the fund underlying their policies. We do this by holding back some of the profits we earn in good years and use them to supplement the returns we earn when times are tough.
Trading Business	In order to secure extra returns, LVFS invests in its life insurance business selling products such as life insurance, critical illness insurance, income protection and pensions, as well as investment products. It also has a strategic holding in a general insurance business selling products which protect the policyholder from losses due to accident, damage and theft on items such as cars, homes and pets.
Underlying Value of Investments	This is the actual value of the investments in the fund which we use to determine the value of your policy. However, when we actually pay out your policy, we also take into account how we smooth payouts and any guaranteed benefits that your policy has.
Unsmoothed Return	This is the actual return on the investments in the fund underlying your policy.
